Reconnecting with God's Mission

July 21-22, 2011
Easton, Washington

Reconnecting with God's Mission

Does the church feel spiritually unproductive in the area of mission? It's easy for churches to become bogged down with programs, routines and maintenance. In the process the essential nature of being the Body of Christ within the world is sometimes eclipsed.

ThinkNEXT is a conference for Church of God pastors and leaders who are ready to move beyond the past and the present, and are willing to accept the challenge of fully engaging in God's mission and being more effective as a church. Doing so requires new knowledge, skills and behaviors.

Bring a team from your church and participate in this intensive event. You will be equipped with new insights and encouraged by your interaction with leaders from other churches across the PNA.

July 21-22, 2011

Thursday, 1:15-4:30pm

Friday, 9am-4:30pm

Conference Leader

Phil Claycomb is the director of Nexus, a church planting and leader care ministry centered in Dallas, Texas. With extensive ministry experience he works with both church planters and leaders of established churches focusing on coaching, mentoring, training and community.

Other Leaders:

John Newton, Church Multiplication Coordinator, Church of God Ministries

Lloyd Moritz, Executive Director, Pacific Northwest Association of the Church of God
